

Engineering your solutions during COVID-19.

Both our Rotorua & Auckland teams are working remotely.

During these unprecedented times of forced lock down, Dobbie Engineers remains available to provide engineering support to our clients, be it in multiple remote premises. Our team have full access to all their normal design and project management tools and we are available to offer assistance whether you are in the development stage of a new project or ensuring your existing plant is operating efficiently.

If you are an Essential Business and require Engineering assistance on site or at a Contractors yard we can provide these services to you. If we can be of assistance please call Hamish or Greg directly on their mobiles or via email.

In the mean time Dobbie hope you, your staff and families remain safe and well.
