

Project Manager

PERMANENT POSITION | NORTH SHORE BASED

Do you want to work for a leading NZ Mechanical Engineering Consulting Business that recognizes the importance of work/life balance, in a location where you can take your lunch break walking along Takapuna beach, enjoy the many local cafes or make use of gyms?

Dobbie are an award-winning CarbonZero consultancy, providing first-class engineering solutions to clients throughout New Zealand.

The Role

Our team is continuing to grow as we develop our advisory capabilities with an initial focus on decarbonisation projects. With this growth comes the opportunity for a Project Manager to join us as a key team member.

You will manage projects through all phases of the life cycle - concept and planning, through implementation and successful conclusion. Throughout it all, you will manage relationships with the relevant stakeholders including the client, consultants, contractors, and internal staff.

These projects will be based across several of our key areas in Geothermal, Dairy, Abattoirs Manufacturing, and Timber Processing sectors across New Zealand.

About you:

- Hold a relevant tertiary qualification
- Proven experience supporting principal Project Managers and Project Principals in the delivery of major design and construction projects;
- At least 5 years experience managing the delivery of small to medium design projects;
- Ability to work across integrated multi-disciplinary teams;
- Excellent stakeholder management and relationship skills.

We are looking for a person who thrives when working on a range of projects across the mechanical and structural engineering space. In return, we offer opportunities for strong career progression by contributing to large scale local and international projects.

For the successful individual we are offering a competitive salary, benefits including employer subsidised healthcare, an increased Kiwisaver contribution rate, ongoing professional support and career development. We are committed to fostering a culture that empowers our people, promotes teamwork and embraces flexibility.
